MISS FRANKLIN ADDRESSES THE THIRD STREET PARENT-TEACHERS

By Walt. Le Noir Church

Yesterday was the regular meeting of the Third street school P.-T. A. Mrs. R. W. Meeker, President, Mrs. Harman Anderson, Secretary, and Mrs. H. Jipson, Treasurer, with many other members and guests were present to hear the address of Miss Veta Franklin on the very important subject of Proper Food for Children (boys and girls). It was a very learned talk given in a simple, clear, convincing manner, which will doubtless have good effects on the health of many people, "to the third and fourth generation." Good things are inherited from the fathers as truly as their sins. The subject was viewed from a dietetic, rather than an economic, standpoint. Really, when it comes to feeding children what they need to maintain health, and prepare for their life work, the best is the cheapest. But it was good to hear that many of the very cheapest foods are among the best.

We hear so much about food for babies and so little of food suitable for growing children and its judicious differentiations. Here, too, what is meat for one may be poison, literally, for another. That also shows how progress is spasmodic, along a few lines, disregarding others fully as important for an indefinite time, till some one makes a new specialization and forces the world to listen.

Solomon said, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Miss Franklin clearly demonstrated that also, as a man filleth up his stomach, so is he; beginning in babyhood, continuing in childhood, and on through his whole life. Truly, we are what we eat.

She had good news for boys: "When a growing boy of under or over twelve eats more than his father, he is very likely doing the right thing. Don't correct him. Let him eat. He needs it," or words to that effect. By the same token, if your girls begin to manifest abnormal appetities, either as to quantity or quality of foods, your attention is needed to see that they get a change of diet which will be satisfying without being hurtful.

Good food, good feeder, good worker.

Those three essentials to success should never be ignored.

You may lead a boy to water, but you can't make him drink. You may tempt a girl to chatter, but you can't make her think—about eating just as you think, for appetite makes no claim to reason or revelation—beyond an internal, strictly personal craving which demands to be considered. Why not? Weren't you that way when you were young and growing, and exercising in special ways? Most of the time the food is selected with a view to father, really the least important member of the family, under frequent conditions. The young mother and the young children are paramount in their rights as to food and clothing.

A very wise conqueror of nations said: "My army travels and fights on its stomach; therefore the stomach of my army is paramount."

Sounds paradoxical—but is not.

Miss Franklin said the marvelous health of California natives is largely due to their fruit and vegetable diet. That was true,also, of our arborial ancestry. Our teeth show that we are naturally fruitivorous.

Rider Haggard's "She" may have been something more than a fancy. She lived on Fruit and Flames for more than two thousand years. Granted a novelist's license as to time and consider the flames as but the calories Miss Franklin told about and there may be more truth than fiction in that strangely beautiful story, in spite of its admitted crudities.

Glendale's Intermediate, or Third street, school is doing fine work, along good lines that will count much in the lives of its loyal, enthusiastic teachers and pupils. Such co-operation wins. They teach and practice true patriotism—civic loyalty to all elected officials, National, State, County or City, regardless of political parties or local politics.

APRICOT CROP INJURED

Last week when the apricot orchards were in full bloom, the growers were jubilant over the prospects of a good crop, but the heavy frost Monday morning has given them great fear that a large per cent. of the crop has been killed, but the full extent of the damage can not be ascertained until the blooms begin to fall.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair and warmer to-night. Probably rain Wednesday.

1150 ARE REGISTERED

ADVANCE REGISTRATION KEEPING LOCAL COMMITTEE OCCUPIED

The registration committee for the coming County Christian Endeavor convention have been very busy the past few days. Up to date the advance registrations reach the high mark of 1150. From all indications the committee's estimate of 3500 delegates who will attend the convention is none too high.

Merchants have signified their intention of welcoming the visiting hosts with elaborate decorations in the Christian Endeavor colors, purple and gold. The enthusiasm exhibited by the local committees and C. E. workers is infectious and the people are waking up to the fact that this convention is the biggest thing and the best thing that has ever happened to Glendale. Looking at the convention from a selfish standpoint, it is the biggest advertisement possible. We should not miss the opportunity to make a good impression on these thousands of visitors.

Glendale people are noted for their hospitality and everyone is anxious that every one of the big army of delegates shall be royally entertained.

Local Endeavorers have been working for the convention ever since they secured the big meeting for Glendale a year ago and such faithful, earnest work must surely be rewarded by success. Let us work for the best convention in the history of the Los Angeles County C. E. Union.

MISS MONICA SMITH A BRIDE

A number of Glendale people were guests Saturday afternoon at the marriage of Miss Monica Smith and Courtright Hite, which occurred at the beautiful and spacious home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Llewellyn Bixby, on Ocean View avenue, Long Beach. The bride has resided with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, 143 S. Maryland avenue, Glendale, for many years and has endeared herself to many friends here.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the First Presbyterian church of Glendale performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends from various points. Dresden baskets of fruit blossoms had been used for decoration and produced a charming and springlike effect. The bride was becomingly gowned in white and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Following the pretty service a buffet luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Hite will reside on the groom's ranch near Lancaster in the Antelope Valley, whither the best wishes of the bride's many friends in church and social circles in Glendale will follow her.

Among the Glendale guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. James Newton, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hall, Miss Ellen Hansen, Miss Vera Halloway, Miss Leta and Miss Alice McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lennox of Van Nuys, Miss Lida and Miss Nell Robb of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

A program of unusual interest is promised by the Thursday Afternoon club of Tropico at its regular meeting Thursday at the Tropico city hall. A Shakespearean program will be given and Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett of Los Angeles will read "Henry VIII." Mrs. Garrett is a splendid reader and is well versed in Shakespeare. Besides being the instructor of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale, she is instructor of the Shakespeare sections of the Cosmos club, the Hollywood and the Alhambra Woman's clubs, an dhas a Shakespearean class of her own. On Wednesday she is to give a big program before the Galtin Shakespeare club. Mrs. Chas. Stewart of Tropico is to sing a group of Shakespeare's sonnets, which have been set to music, at Thursday's meeting. The program for the day will be in charge of Mrs. Henry P. Goodwin, who is chairman of the hostesses.

FLORAL BOWER AS REST ROOM

The energetic members of the Glendale Garden Society are once again demonstrating their policy of helping and boosting Glendale in every possible civic manner.

The spacious vacant store located at 318 S. Brand, next door to the postoffice, kindly donated by the owner, will not only be a free floral exhibit, it will also prove a delightful spot for the 3000 visitors expected in connection with the Christian Endeavor Convention. Plans are being made to convert the large room into a peaceful, fragrant rest bower, where the public may enjoy a quiet half hour and seek shelter from the glare of the streets.

CHAMBER COMMERCE

HOLD MONTHLY MEETING IN NEW QUARTERS AT 1010 W. BROADWAY

As advertised, the Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce held their regular monthly meeting yesterday at 7:30 p. m. in their spacious, newly leased hall at No. 1010 West Broadway, opposite their old quarters.

There was a goodly attendance, with a manifested feeling that their affairs are moving forward in a satisfactory manner. The minutes of the previous monthly meeting of the directors, and the intervening three meetings of the Executive Committee, were read and approved. President Clendenin asked the Secretary and General Manager for a report concerning the new quarters and the expected exhibit from the San Diego Exposition. He reported that Supervisor Richard Norton telegraphed him that forenoon to come to his office, as arranged, for the Exhibit was arriving from San Diego. Mr. Charles L. Wilson, Secretary of the Southern California Commission, was in charge. As he had superintended the packing, he knows all about the returned materials. He very courteously agreed to select a suitable exhibit for the space we have, 18x45 feet, and our two show windows.

Tuesday evening he is to telephone just what and where it is, so that Wednesday we may send for it. We had a good offer from a Los Angeles truckman to deliver it here, but of course we wish the hauling done by Glendale truckmen.

Mr. Frank Wiggin, Secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Dudley, his assistant (a resident of Glendale), loaned us eight hanging baskets, and will let us have other things that they may find available. Everybody at that end of the line, Supervisors Dodge and Norton, their assistants and the porter, Mr. Robinson, and then Secretary Wilson of the Southern California Exposition Commission, together with L. A. Chamber of Commerce Secretary Wiggin, and his assistant, Mr. Dudley, all manifested such kindly interest in Glendale and a desire to aid us in every possible way to get the best exhibit available under the circumstances.

At the meeting last night the new "Aloha" leaflet issued by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was delivered. It seems to have made a hit. Copies will be distributed among the thousands of Glendale's guests this week, and everybody in Glendale is invited to call at the Chamber of Commerce and get copies for themselves and friends. Why not send these Glendale leaflets to your friends back east, up north, or down south? Here is a good chance for every one to do a little practical propaganda work for Glendale.

That work was begun last night by all those at the meeting. All the leaflets needed will be freely supplied.

To-day they are being distributed at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. O'Neil and her associates at the Literature counter assured us that they would take particular pains to see that the Glendale leaflets are duly distributed, as there are many calls for Glendale literature.

At the meeting, also, the president called on Mr. Church for a report of his attendance at the monthly convention of the Commercial Secretaries of Southern California, the last Saturday in February at Rialto and San Diego. This was given and approved. It was published in the News February 26 and more than two hundred copies mailed to commercial secretaries of California. It is understood that Mr. Church is to attend those conventions held on the last Saturday at a different city each month.

The vice-president reported that in more than forty Southern California newspaper exchanges he had noted publication of the fact that Glendale was for the first time represented at the Commercial Secretaries' Convention.

Several of the directors volunteered to have their autos at the Chamber of Commerce Friday and Saturday afternoons to take our visitors around for a view of the most beautiful city on earth. Among them are Mr. Usilton, who first suggested it, President Clendenin, Mr. Hartmann, with several others who will specify when they can do so. There will be no trouble in distinguishing the autos so serving the Chamber of Commerce visitors from among the Christian Endeavor hosts.

Will not other auto owners help out in that hospitable move? There cannot be too many of them. It would be appreciated if those who can do so will notify the Chamber of Commerce, so their "banners" may be ready in time.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

ADA C. BOWLES DISTINGUISHED GUEST AT GATHERING AT DUFFIELD HOME

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Duffield at 1222 Lomita avenue was the scene of a happy gathering Sunday evening, when Mrs. John Burton of Los Angeles was the honored dinner guest, the affair being in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, Dr. Ada C. Bowles, Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones, Mr. Donald Bowles and Mr. and Mrs. Duffield. Mr. Burton is one of the old theatrical men of Los Angeles, being a former member of the Burbank stock company, and Donald Bowles was also a former member of that company, and both being old friends of Mr. Duffield, the reunion was a pleasant one. Mr. Bowles' mother, Rev. Ada C. Bowles of Boston, Mass., is the house guest of Mrs. Duffield, and during the social evening of chat and reminiscence that followed the dinner hour she read one of her poems. Mrs. Bowles is in her eighty-first year and began to write poetry at the age of 15, much of which has been published. At 20 she was an ardent anti-slave worker. After her marriage at the age of 22 to a Universalist minister, she herself studied for the ministry and twenty years ago was called to a pastorate at Pomona, where she preached for several years. She also served in pastorates in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. At the present time she is vice-president of the Wintergreen club of Boston, an organization that admits to membership only women of fifty or over. The first president was Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Bowles being secretary at that time. Mrs. Bowles is now interested in a campaign to erect a monument to the memory of Anna Ell Carroll, whom she calls the American Joan of Arc. This noble woman died a pauper's death after freeing her slaves and dedicating her fortune to the cause of liberty, and her grave is unmarked. Mrs. Bowles is to give a lecture on "The American Joan of Arc" at the Universalist church in Los Angeles on March 30, and her son, Donald Bowles, will read the original poem read by her Sunday evening.

THE MILKMAN SHOULD BE MORE CAREFUL

It is not an uncommon sight to see broken milk bottles left laying on the sidewalk or in the street, gutter or wherever by accident the sleepy milkman happens to drop them. One morning recently two bottles of milk had been dropped or accidentally broken on the sidewalk in front of a business house on Broadway and the contents and broken glass allowed to remain for several hours on the sidewalk before the remnants were swept off into the gutter, where the danger increases. While such incidents are very unsightly, it is also very dangerous, as many are the times that an automobile or bicycle tire has been ruined on account of the negligence some milk vendor. If there is no city ordinance governing such cases, the milk man should be morally obliged to stop long enough to gather up the broken glass and thus prevent any damage being done to the property of his fellowman.

FLORAL EXHIBIT

Glendale residents who remember the success and beauty of the Free Flower Show held last year by the Glendale Garden Society are asked to contribute any flowers, plants or greenery they may possess to the Floral Exhibit to be held at 318 S. Brand, on Saturday of this week. Please bring as much decoration material as possible early Friday morning; exhibits and entries should be made before Friday afternoon, 5 o'clock. Entries for contest will be accepted as late as 9:30 on Saturday morning, but unless flowers be delicate, entries on Friday are requested. Contests will be for daffodils, iris and the most artistic arrangement of any flowers in a vase or bowl. For further information phone Glendale 395 W or Glendale 394. All kinds of flowers are acceptable as exhibits.

MOTHERS' STUDY READING CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Reading Circle will meet at 1:45 Thursday afternoon at the Pacific avenue school. The book, "The Training of the Girl," by Wm. A. McKeever, will be started. The circle is very anxious that many women will avail themselves of the opportunity to begin this helpful book. The author is very practical and broad in his treatment of the subject. There are no dues and no requirements, except attendance. Come, bring a friend, and enjoy the reading and discussion.

COST OF LIVING IN FOURTEENTH CENTURY

A carpenter in the fourteenth century received a wage of only 12 cents a day, against $4.50 to-day. Yet the cost of living was, relatively, higher than it is to-day.

The statement is that of Professor R. M. Garrett of the University of Washington, who also recites a list of food costs taken from the accounts of the expenditures of the Earl of Derby, later King Henry IV of England, as he was about to embark in 1390 on a campaign against the Lithuanians.

A carpenter, in those days, for his daily wage of 12 cents could buy one pound of butter, two pounds of cheese, a pound of salt, two pounds of flour, one dozen and a half eggs, a chicken and a pound of rice. A carpenter of to-day would have to pay $2.60 cents for this bill of goods but it wouldn't eat up his entire daily wage, as it would that of the carpenter of 1390. The later carpenter would still have $1.90 left. So, argues Prof. Garrett, while the worker of to-day pays more for necessities, he gets much more, comparatively, for his labor. So the times are better.

In 1390 eggs were nine cents a gross. The Earl of Derby paid 30 cents for 300 eggs that to-day would cost him from $12.50 to $14.00. For 14 pounds of butter, that would now cost him $7, he paid a shilling, or 25 cents. Rice brought by way of Venice from the east cost 10 pounds for a shilling. It costs a dollar to-day.

The one shilling exception to the general rise in prices that has occurred since that time is sugar. In 1390 it cost 36 cents a pound, and now it retails at 8 cents. Here are some other prices taken from the Earl of Derby's accounts:

A fine white horse, $25; ale, 2 to 4 cents a gallon; best wine, 5 cents a quart; mutton, 65 cents a carcass; beef, $3.75 to $7.50 a carcass; vinegar, 10 cents a gallon; dates 7 cents a pound; blankets, 32 cents a yard.

The Yuma Valley of Arizona, under national reclamation, has forged rapidly to the front as one of the rich and fertile regions of the Southwest. The change from the old haphazard methods which prevailed during the period when private irrigation systems were operated to the present conditions of intensive and practical farming under the Government canals is marked. This change is particularly gratifying to the Reclamation Service at Washington, D. C.

Last year's crop report is a most interesting document, and predicates in a measure the results which will obtain when 100,000 acres are prepared for crop. In 1916 the total area cropped was 28,283 acres, and the gross returns amounted to $1,435,403, or an average of $50.75 per acre. Alfalfa constituted the most important crop in acreage and gross returns, the yield of hay on 10,880 acres being $266,898, or $25 per acre, and from seed grown on 8,100 acres the returns were $328,725, or $40.57 per acre.

The highest average return was from cotton and seed, $100 per acre. On 4670 acres 2,289,430 pounds of cotton, or an average of 490 pounds per acre were produced, and the gross value was $397,420. The average yields per acre of other crops were as follows: beans, $44; truck, $74; Indian corn, $24; corn sorghum, $25; wheat, $22. The best evidence of better farming is shown by the fact that the average return per acre in 1916 was 45 per cent. greater than for 1915.

The Yuma project, with its twelve months of growing season, its abundance of water, and comparatively cheap priced land, offers a splendid opportunity for the farmer who is looking for a home where winter snows and summer drouths never come.

LET US REASON TOGETHER

There is reason to all things, and when differences come up it is the part of wisdom for those who differ to reason together. It is not a good plan for people to jump at conclusions, but the question under consideration should be studied carefully.

There are many angles from which a question may be viewed, and it is in place to view a question from all the angles before expressing an opinion as to the merits of the question.

A few people do not like the term "broad minded." Well, if you do not care to say broad minded, say common sense.

HORTICULTURAL PRODUCTS FROM OTHER STATES

A great many people have believed themselves to be considerably wronged when some choice plant or fruit which they had imported from Florida or other eastern state has been denied admission by the Horticultural Commissioner's force. Most people, however, when they understand why, recognize the importance of these restrictions. Cases have occurred, however (mostly when the article in question was fruit) in which the importer evidently knew of the restrictions and tried to smuggle the article through in spite of it. Grape fruit from Florida afflicted with a dangerous fungus disease not now existing in California has been found packed in the center of a barrel of apples (more grape fruit than apples) and billed through as apples. The same kind of fruit has been found packed in a shoe case with other articles and billed "Breakfast Food," and various other less flagrant violations of the law have been encountered.

NEW THOUGHT

Last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the boys and girls of the Sunday School began active preparations for the coming Easter service. Miss Olive Williams, the enthusiastic superintendent, told of her plans for the occasion. Each child is to represent a flower and dress the part. One of the larger girls is to be a shepardess among these brilliant flowers of the spring.

After these plans the usual lesson for the day was studied. This is divided into two parts. First comes the Bible lesson, in this instance John 6: 24-27. Miss Williams explained the real meaning of the bread of life, the Christ Spirit within. Then came the second part of the lesson. The superintendent is not only a lover of children but of nature and all growing things. The story of an oak gall and the tiny fly that laid its egg within was told. But better yet, the oak gall was shown and opened and the little worm disclosed.

The lesson, one of many that nature teaches, in this case, easily comprehended by every child, was the importance of surrounding himself with a house of pure and loving thoughts where no evil can enter and where he can grow into that which God intended he should be.

How eagerly they crowded around this teacher when she showed other specimens and taught the double lesson of God and Nature.

The littlest ones were taken into another room, where Mrs. Beamon, in Miss Ruth William's absence, told them a "Fairy Bluebell" story containing a lesson of joy and life.

Every child is welcome to this Sunday School where the growth of flowers and children is so beautifully taught.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Edw. S. Jerome talked to an earnest group of older people, taking for his subject those words of Paul in which he immortalizes himself, the 13th chapter of 1 Cor.

Mr. Jerome speaks from a varied experience. A retired and successful business man, one who has traveled extensively and a keen student of history he is well qualified to bring home to his audience the truths of this wonderful chapter.

A few of his remarks follow: "This chapter is a statement of a character—a true picture of the Christ. We are seeking happiness, refinement, pleasure, riches. We want to get ahead, to travel, to study, These are all right, but all important is charity or love. Just as we take in this spirit do we enter into heaven. This is the sure road to Heaven within and without. All gifts and powers cannot make you as happy as this spirit of love."

Next Sunday morning Mr. Jerome's subject will be "Thoughts are Things."

The evening lecture by Mrs. Adeline Becker of Los Angeles was entitled: "Excess Baggage." This was a splendid lecture and several persons exclaimed, "Every word of this should be printed." However, it will be impossible to do justice to her lecture, but the following will serve to hint at the truths so forcefully presented.

"We who are truth students are traveling to some set end. We know at what we are aiming. In the past we have been told that we had to die to get to our destination. We know better now. We have long labored under the delusion that material things are a necessity and then began to accumulate a great mass; our feet became intangled in impedimenta. We want only enough of the material to help us unfold the spiritual powers within, to have bodies full of health, minds alert and keen with dominion over all our forces.

"One reason in this western country that we take to the truth with such eagerness is because we are not carrying so much excess baggage as the easterner. We lack the conventions here. We are not in bondage to large houses, quantities of bricabrac and furnishings. Here our main work is not adhering to the conventions nor standing by family traditions, but is rather the development and unfoldment of the God Powers within.

"But we are still hambered in our relations with others. Many of us are doing things because we are expected to do them, whereas those people and we would be better off not doing those things. Mothers fail in this more often than men. A chance to help oneself is a tremendous opportunity. By doing unnecessary things for others we deny them soul development. If we pass away, these dependents get along without us, thrive and rejoice. We hamper ourselves with the burdens they should bear.

"And then how often we try to explain our actions to our friends and neighbors. Why burden yourself with explanation? Either you are right or you are wrong. If you are right, no explanations are needed. If you are wrong, explanations do not explain. Your friends, your neighbors, and your children know you better than you know yourself.

"Another form of unnecessary accumulation is in the mind. We think education means storing the mind with facts. We proceed to memorize vast quantities of words. Education means ability to take or to find what you need when you need it and to use it. Train your mind to grasp daily what you need to set you forward on your journey.

Don't burden yourself with old grudges, don't dwell on some old sense of injustice, some past sorrow —old accumulations of past years. Many ask, 'Why don't I make greater progress?' What are you carrying in your minds? Let it go.

"On every step of the journey you must have a consciousness of what you need. You cannot depend upon anything but the I am, the God within yourself. If you wish to reach dominion over yourself, if you want a healthy body, a clear, alert mind, if you want to bring out the God qualities within, you must lay aside every weight.

"But what are you really after? Do you wish to be master of yourself or do you wish material wealth? We are seeking to unfold the powers within. Then seek first the kingdom of heaven. Know every step of the way that you have the power within sufficient for the day thereof."

Facts and Comment

A petition containing 280 signatures calling for an election on a proposed ordinance making Watts dry was presented to the Watts trustees and the mayor of that city is of the opinion that Watts will be as dry as a bone within sixty days.

The California Hotel Company, of which D. M. Linnard is the controlling director, has taken over under a single management three of the largest hotels in the United States, the Maryland, Huntington and Green of Pasadena, involving property values totaling $4,500,000. Associated with Mr. Linnard will be Col. G. G. Green and H. E. Huntington. Mr. Linnard will personally manage the three hotels.

Ten acres of land owned by the city of Redlands in Lugonia, at the water plant, will be planted to sweet potatoes and peanuts and three acres at the Reservoir canyon plant will be set out to Irish potatoes. The trustees believe the sandy soil of the lower city will be just the thing for growing peanuts and point out the fact that in Texas thousands of dollars are being made in the cultivation of peanuts on small tracts of land.

The value of this year's citrus fruit crop in the Monrovia-Duarte district will total nearly a million dollars. L. M. Banks, Monrovia fruit broker, whose firm does an annual cash business of over $500,000, estimates the present season's Navels, Valencias and lemons in Duarte and Monrovia orchards at close to 1150 cars. At $800 a car, a conservative figure for this year, says Mr. Banks, the crop tips the money scales at just $920,000.

LEGAL ADVICE

A well-known judge went into a butcher shop one morning. After a brief talk the butcher said: "Judge, will you give me a little legal advice? Suppose a dog should come into your shop and steal a piece of meat, what would you do?"

"Sue the dog's owner," said the judge. "Was it a valuable piece of meat?"

"It was a fine roast, worth five dollars."

"Well," said the judge, "I should sue the owner, then, for five dollars."

"Good!" said the butcher, with a grin; "It was your dog, judge."

The judge smilingly paid the butcher and left.

Soon afterward the butcher met the judge. "Judge," he said, "I have here a bill from you for five dollars. What is that for?"

The judge smiled again. "That," he said, "is for the legal advice I gave you about that dog."

IOWA AND DAKOTA SNOW

An Illinois newspaper last week contained the following news item, which gives evidence that Iowa and Dakota have had plenty of snow the past winter.

H. B. Hendrick received a letter yesterday from his sister, Mrs. Henry Welty, at Norcross, Minn. Snow banks are twenty and more feet high in places, she says. Fences have disappeared and stock must all be kept inside, because there is nothing to restrain them. Haystacks are buried. At one of their barns they walk into the upper floor over the snow. They have tunnelled from the barn to the tank to lead the stock to water. Digging from the house to the well, they go down snow steps to get to the pump. The main street of their town is closed with snow and the lower story of houses, in some cases, covered up. The thermometer has stood at 35 and 36 below. Recently it has crawled up to zero. For their consolation neighbors tell them that big crops follow such a winter.

Speaking of snow, Mrs. Grant Fleming hears from her niece, Ellen Hendrick, of Primghar, Iowa, that the snow is so deep that her little brother can walk about on it and touch the tops of the telephone poles. On the north side of their house the drifts are as high as the building. And Mrs. Lawton has a letter from Mrs. Howard Walters, of New England, N. D., telling that for two weeks they were cut off from mail service.

TRAVEL SECTION VISITS FLORENCE

The ladies of the Art and Travel Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale spent a delightful afternoon Monday in the city of Florence, Italy. Miss Elizabeth Porter gave a brief history of the Uffizi Pitti palaces and told of the Ponte Vecchio, the old bridge across the river Arno, which connects the art galleries of these palaces. She described the Tribuna, that beautiful octagonal room in the Uffizi, which contains such priceless treasures of art, among them the Venus di Medici, the Wrestlers, the Grinder, Titian's Venus, and the portrait of Pope Julius II and many others. Her talk was illustrated with photographs and curios, and was most interesting.

Mrs. Turck talked of the Piazza Della Signoria with its Loggia dei Lanzi, its fountains, the Palazzo Vecchio, which is still an important center of business and pleasure. It was here that Savonarola was executed on May 23, 1498. After a drive about the city, with stops at the Boboli gardens and the Piazzale Michelangelo, the meeting was adjourned and a social half hour over the tea cups was enjoyed. The next meeting will be held on March 19, when Cathedral Square and the church of the Santa Croce, the Westminster of Florence, will be visited.

The following paper on Savonarola was read by Mrs. C. M. Turck:

The Palazzo Vecchio, once the seat of the Signoria or senate, later the home of Cosimo and now the city hall, was at one time a fort and a prison and it was here that the monk, Savonarola, was confined, having been taken there from his quiet little cell in the monastery of St. Mark's. Savonarola was an unsuccessful reformer and a Christian martyr. He was not a native of Florence, but was born in Serrara in 1452. His parents were of the better class and gave him an expensive education, desiring him to follow the profession of medicine. He was a sad, solitary, pensive young man, whose youth was marred by an unfortunate love affair with a haughty Florentine girl, who rejected his suit. Unlike Dante, he did not cherish her memory and dedicate to her a life labor, but became very dejected and very pious.

He entered a Dominican convent and became a monk, as you know, but he was less interested in dogmas than in morals, and marked out as his life work a campaign of reform. Florence at first refused to accept his vehement and stubborn arguments and he was sent to the mountain villages to preach to the rustics. This he did with such success that he attracted the attention of the church in Florence and was recalled here in 1490, when his great career began, and he became the recognized power, the most marked man of the city and the most eloquent preacher in Italy, probably in the world. His eloquence was marked by boldness, earnestness and almost fierceness.

He was made prior of St. Mark's and was thus granted the opportunity of sowing the seeds of reform, but it was a reform of morals, not of doctrine. He denounced sin alike in the layman and churchman, and when he exposed the private vices of the pope himself, Alexander VI (Roderigo Borgia in private life), that potentate at once took strong measures to silence forever the voice of his accuser, and issued an edict forbidding him to preach under penalty of excommunication, and when Savonarola continued to preach he was sentenced to death. As I have mentioned in the beginning of this article, he was imprisoned in the Palazzo Vecchio, where for one month he was subjected to torture and suffered terrible martyrdom until May 23, 1498, when he was hanged in the square, a martyr to the cause of Christ, not because of any disloyalty to his church, but because he denounced the corruption of those who ruled it. After his execution his remains were burned and his ashes scattered on the River Arno and to this day do men pay tribute to his memory. On the spot of his execution a large bronze tablet is laid in the pavement, which of course bears his name, and upon the anniversary of his death the tablet is surrounded by a path of pink rose petals a foot in width, the petals fashioned into all conceivable forms.

The different political societies bring flowers, as do the Dominican orders, the sisters of charity, the citizens and the stranger tourist, and the tribute is the more beautiful because the person paying it personally places his offering.

To me the most impressive detail is the path of rose petals, separated from the thorns on the branches that grew them, then scattered, which seems symbolic of the fragrant good that has outlived the thorny past and representing the sweetness and influence of this great reformer—an influence which lives not only to-day, but which will live for centuries to come.

MYSTERIOUS BEACON LIGHT

A beacon light on Elephant hill in Granada park which lies west of Monterey park and south of Alhambra has occasioned considerable speculation among Alhambra people, says the Alhambra Advocate.

Government officials have been keeping close watch on the mysterious beacon and were ready to capture the operators Thursday night, but when they arrived the men had escaped.

The big tripod which rises to a height of 20 feet commands a view of the sea and of coast defenses. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights it flashed its signals but on Thursday night it was silent and it is believed the signalers were warned of the presence of investigators in the vicinity of the beacon by a suspicious looking individual who was surprised by watchers as he climbed the steep slope on the hill Thursday afternoon.

The signal tower on the lofty crest of Elephant hill, commands a full view of the seashore through Coyote pass. When examined Thursday it showed signs of a recent fire and of the signal lamp's being forcibly torn from its platform. It is believed the structure caught fire accidentally Wednesday night.

Beneath the tripod stands another structure, firmly imbedded in the ground and bearing a crude vernier whose divisions point to Catalina, San Diego, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and other Southern California towns, it is said.

It is believed this platform supported a telescope to catch flashes said to have been sent from Catalina Island.

The mining stock promoter dashed into his office and locked the door.

"Get into the simplified card index case," said the head clerk. "I defy any one to find anything there."

Advertising is like driving a nail—you can't drive it home with one tap of the hammer, but by one knock after another it is finally driven as far as it will go and then it holds. And, like the nail, it takes some effort to pry your customers loose from the article rightly advertised.

Things go best for people who take them as they come.

HAS WOMAN CHAUFFEUR

To a woman is entrusted one of the highly responsible positions in England. This woman is Miss Marsh, who drives the automobile of the man upon whom the British look for guidance—Premier Lloyd George.

With the great war's drain upon the manhood of the nations involved, the places of many men in the ranks, in other countries as well as Britain, have been taken by women. Miss Marsh is only one of hundred of other women chauffeurs in London and other European cities.

Miss Marsh is said to be a complete master of the motor car. Her trips with the Premier are not without thrills, as is evidenced by the recent alleged plot to kill the dynamic Welshman.

WELL SAID

Many a man spends all his life waiting for the unexpected that never happens.

It keeps the nose of many a man to the grindstone paying interest on his borrowed troubles.

The world is full of kickers; and that's what most of us are kicking about.

It takes a pretty evenly balanced man to be as strong in prosperity as in adversity.

The men who try to do something and fail are infinitely better than those who try to do nothing and succeed.

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

Your flag and my flag,
And how it flies to-day
In your land and my land
And half a world away!
Rose red and blood red
The Stripes forever gleam;
Snow-white and soul-white—
The good forefathers' dream;
Sky-blue and true-blue
With stars to gleam aright—
The gloried guidon of the day.
A shelter through the night.

Your flag and my flag!
And, oh, how much it holds—
Your land and my land—
Secure within its folds!
Your heart and my heart
Beat quicker at the sight;
Sun kissed and wind tossed—
Red and blue and white.
The one flag—the great flag—
The flag for me and you—
Glorified all else beside—
The red and white and blue.

HISTORY MADE PALATABLE

Joseph Salvador, the French historian, and Jules Sandeau, a novelist, made their meeting at a public reception the occasion for a dispute as to the respective places which they occupied in the world of letters.

"The reading of history is like a pill—it needs the sugar coating to make it palatable," argued the novelist.

"Ah, but it is the ingredient which cures, not the coating," remarked the historian.

"Then let us divide honors," said Sandeau, "for if it were not for my sugar coating your historical facts would dry on the shelves."

EASTER SERVICE ON EAGLE ROCK

Eagle Rock will now begin to realize that on Sunday morning, April 8th, in this city will be held the most notable and important religious and public service ever held in this section of the State. The church people and citizens of this city have joined in a plan to hold a great sunrise Easter service on top of the historic bird rock from which this city and valley get their name.

There is no better known spot in Southern California, and no place easier of access to thousands of people. It is situated on the foothill boulevard, and thousands of autos pass by each week. And the Garvanza and Eagle Rock Park street cars run from the center of the metropolis to the base of the rock. In addition to the regular cars, the committee in charge of arrangements has gotten the management of the Los Angeles Railway interested and the traffic department has already arranged for enough extra cars on that morning to run one every minute. They will also put about three hundred banners on the cars ten days in advance, to let the people know about the great event.

The Easter service will be a truly religious one—beautiful and effective in its simplicity. But it will prove of more than local interest because of the known ability of those secured to take part in the service. The pastors and others having in charge the program have about completed that work. In addition to the devotional part, the following special features can be noted:

A huge cross will be erected on the rock and will be brilliantly lighted all night, making it visible miles away.

A few minutes before sunrise a bugle call will be sounded calling the people to service.

As the sun appears over the eastern foothill Mr. Wiethof, recognized as one of the best cornetists in Los Angeles, will play an Easter solo.

Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw—Lark Ellen—whom everybody loves to hear, will sing two numbers.

Dr. James Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles, and president of the Los Angeles Church Federation, will give a short address. He is recognized as one of the ablest pastors in Southern California.

A fine orchestra under the direction of Mr. Marcel Meier, a man of recognized ability, of Los Angeles, will assist in the services. The players are mostly members of the well-known Symphony Orchestra.—Eagle Rock Sentinel.

TRIBUTE TO IOWA

To get into Iowa is to feel at home. Iowa is peopled by "Rubes." The more I see of the smart set New Yorker, the more I love the "Rube." A "Rube," as I understand it, is a man who has not forgotten how to be human. I visited a lot of them in Iowa and had the time of my life. I rode behind three horses and a sweet-running motor all in one afternoon. Iowa takes its education in colleges instead of cabarets and the effect is easily seen. It is a wealthy state, and that is not so easily seen. Iowans have learned that a dollar in the bank is worth two in the ear-ring and you may be condescending to an Iowa capitalist without and use you for a hitching post out and use your for a hitching post for his horses.—Christian Herald.

MAY MEAN BIG THINGS

That the proposed farm school at Riverside may prove the nucleus for a new university of Southern California similar to that at Berkeley and Davis, is the belief of Dr. A. L. Smith, F. A. Bliss and others particularly active in the movement to secure the school appropriation from this legislature.

A sum of $50,000 is now considered as the amount necessary for a start on the farm school, and efforts are being made to see that the bill for the school is passed.

Assemblyman Henry W. Wright, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, is much interested in the proposition, and in a letter to Dr. Smith gives the assurance of his support of any effort looking toward the erection of this school, provided the funds can be found for it.—Monrovia News.

WEARING HER OUT

"Mrs. Dubwaite has been under a great nervous strain for about six months."

"That's too bad. What's troubling her?"

"Some people moved in next door who are evidently well-to-do, but to save her life she can't find out where they get their money."

TACT

Mrs. Aytoun wanted new shoes, so she went into a shop, where an obliging assistant brought out a selection for her to try on.

"That's strange, madam," said he, after many vain attempts to fit her, "one of your feet is larger than the other."

Bristling with rage, the lady left that shop and sought another. Here, again, the assistant failed to find a pair which would do.

"How curious, madam!" he said, "one of your feet is smaller than the other."

And, with a beaming smile, Mrs. Aytoun bought two pairs.—"Footprints"

CONCISE ADVERTISING

An English paper advertises for "a young person who can cook and dress children," and refers in its "lost and found" column to "a doll belonging to a little girl stuffed with rags."

This is the paper that contains the following:

"A gentleman has a school for sale; contains two schoolrooms which will accommodate 300 pupils one above another." Also this: "A lady offers for sale a baboon, three tabby cats and a parrot. She states that being now married, she has no use for them, as their amiable qualities are all combined in her husband."

CHEESECAKE

Cheesecakes are made by adding egg, sugar and flavoring to fresh curd, such as is used for cottage cheese. Add an egg to a cupful of curd, beat smooth and beat in half a cupful of sugar and a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Flavor with vanilla, nutmeg or any other spice. Line a pie plate with paste and fill with this mixture. Bake without a top crust.
